I recently purchased satellite radio for my home and I would never go back to regular radio for my home again. I am an avid radio listener. I had trouble trying to maintain certain radio stations, the stations would fade in and out. I don't have that trouble with satellite radio, I have such a variety of music I never had with radio before, it is great. I pay for this service and I don't mind. Why should any organization do something about satellite radio? We are paying customers, paying for a service. It's just like cable tv, we pay for that service. Does anyone or anything threaten the cable industry? No. Well then leave satellite radio alone. We're paying this service and enjoying every minute of it. Thank you,
